Recap on the training options for Nutanix courses

We understand that everyone has different needs for their learning processes. Hence, we offer different programmes for our Nutanix trainings which support you with flexibility. Read on to discover our training options.

Instructor-Led Training
Our Instructor-Led Training (ILT) courses are both theory and lab-based. Guided by our certified trainers, you can learn the necessary skills with the aids of hands-on labs.

Private Instructor-Led Training
Private training is one of the best options if you need training for a number of people or even the whole team. We can work with your schedule and location requirement and give you the same experience as the standard training.

Facilitated Labs
These courses are designed for those focusing on the application of their skills. During the one day course, our certified trainer will go through the hand-on labs under the syllabus of the ILT Trainings. Facilitated lab courses are currently available for the professional level certification.

By participating you'll unlock a host of benefits that will help propel your career forward.
1. Skill Advancement: Our training courses are designed by industry experts to help you grow your Nutanix hybrid multicloud knowledge. No matter which stage of the hybrid multicloud journey you're on, there's a course for you!
2. Industry Validation: Having a Nutanix certification will validate your skills and prove you're well-equipped to guide your organization along their hybrid multicloud journey.
3. Career Advancement: Position yourself for advancement and expand your opportunities for new tasks or career paths with the skills you learn from having the latest Nutanix training and a verified Nutanix certification.
